

Dear Parents,

We will be using the theme of Fairy Stories to introduce your child to different areas of learning. If you would like to follow this up at home here are a few ideas to try!

Talking

- Share with your child your favourite fairy story. Either tell them the story as you remember it or borrow books from the library to read aloud and talk about them.
- Read stories with repeated refrains where the children can join in, for example 'The Gingerbread Man' – 'Run, run as fast as you can...'
- Talk to your child about the morals in stories- doing good deeds, not breaking promises, being kind to other people. Stories are a wonderful way to introduce children to these difficult concepts.

Making Your Own Books

- Using card or paper, punch two holes along one edge and thread through some ribbon or string. Tie the ends together, making a bow.
- Make up your own stories, your child could draw the pictures and you could write simple text underneath. They could share their story with older siblings.
- A 'Book All About Me' could have photographs of your child at different ages. They could add pictures of you at a similar age.

Cutting & Sticking

- Help your child to make some mobiles and pictures of fairy tale characters to decorate their bedroom.

In The Kitchen

- Make biscuits in the shapes of boys, girls and animals. Help your child to decorate them to look like different fairy tale characters.

What Are The Opportunities For Learning?

- Experiencing and handling different materials
- To make up stories and use their imagination
- To be able to listen to a story – look, talk and explore.
